CEO OF CLARITY MANAGEMENT CONSULTING EARNS SIX SIGMA BLACK BELT FROM THE INSTITUTE OF INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERS

The IIE Six Sigma Black Belt certification denotes a level of mastery and aptitude in the successful execution of Six Sigma projects.

Syracuse, NY, January 5, 2010 (PRWEB) -- Monica D. Johns, President and CEO of Syracuse-based Clarity Management Consulting, has earned the Six Sigma Black Belt from the Institute of Industrial Engineers (IIE). She also recently earned the Lean Six Sigma White Belt from IIE.

Six Sigma methodologies play a critical role as companies strive to ensure quality and business excellence. The Black Belt denotes a level of mastery and aptitude in the analytical tools associated with Six Sigma, including project management, cost analysis, Failure Modes and Effects Analysis (FMEA), inferential statistics, regression and correlation analysis, reliability, design of experiments, and statistical process control. The Six Sigma Black Belt certification recognizes the expertise and skill that Clarity uses to help its clients revolutionize their business performance.

Clarity Management Consulting (www.claritymanagementconsulting.com) provides consulting solutions that transform the way clients do business. With expertise in project management, process improvement, reengineering, and outsourcing, Clarity helps clients improve quality and reduce waste and cost. These improvements help clients focus on their strategic vision, whether it is expanding into new markets, providing new products and services, or embarking on new customer initiatives.

Ms. Johns' experience includes 25 years with General Electric, Corning, and General Motors. Her background includes engineering, proposal management, sales, product line management, program and project management, outsourcing initiatives, and consulting. Ms. Johns holds a Master's degree in Business Administration (MBA) from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, and a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Engineering from the University at Buffalo. She also holds the Project Management Professional (PMP) credential conferred by the Project Management Institute (PMI).
